

- Whether or not to allocate old growth. If so, where and how much?
- Whether a timber sale(s) should be used to help achieve the desired condition. If so, which stands in the Hopewell Ridge analysis area should be harvested and what vegetation conditions should be created in the harvest areas?
- Whether forest products should be offered. If so, what type of products (firewood, vigas, poles, etc.) and how much?
- Whether prescribed fire should be used. If so, where and how much area should be burned?
- Whether areas should be thinned. If so, where?
- Whether new roads ought to be built. If so where and how much?
- Whether roads should be reconstructed. If so where and to what extent?
- Whether roads should be closed. If so, which ones and where should the closures be?

Scoping: The Hopewell Ridge project proposal has been through initial analysis through an environmental assessment and decision (12/96). Comments on the EA and its preferred alternative (Alternative F) were received from the public and other federal and state agencies. These comments will be used and tracked through the EIS process. Issues include the effects of allocating old growth, the effects of roads on wildlife, water quality and access into the National Forest, the effects of providing saw logs and forest products on the local community's stability and economy, and the effects of harvesting, burning and road building on wildlife and vegetation diversity.

Alternatives: Alternatives in the DEIS will be the same as those developed for the environmental assessment.

Supplemental Information for Public Participation: There will be a 45-day comment period on the draft environmental impact statement beginning when the legal notice of availability appears in The Taos News, the paper of record for the Carson National Forest. Comments received in response to this NOI or the DEIS, including names and addresses of those who comment, will be considered part of the public record on this proposed action and will be available for public inspection. Comments submitted anonymously will be accepted and considered; however, those who submit anonymous comments will not have standing to appeal the subsequent decision under 36 CFR parts 215 or 217. Additionally, pursuant to 7 CFR 1.27(d), any person may request the agency to withhold a submission from the public record by showing how the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) permits such confidentiality. Persons requesting such confidentiality should be aware that, under the FOIA, confidentiality may be granted in only very limited circumstances, such as to protect trade secrets. The Forest Service will inform the requester of the agency's decision regarding the request for confidentiality, and where the request is denied, the agency will return the submission and notify the requester that the comments may be resubmitted with or without name and address within 10 days.

The Forest Service believes it is important to give reviewers notice of several court rulings related to public participation in the environmental review process. To be the most helpful, comments on the DEIS should be as specific as possible and may address the adequacy of the statement or the merits of the alternatives discussed (see Council of Environmental Quality Regulations for implementing the procedural provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act at 40 CFR 1503.3).

In addition, Federal Court decisions have established that reviewers of draft environmental impact statements must structure their participation in the environmental review of the proposal so that it is meaningful and alerts the agency to the reviewer's position and contentions. Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. v. NRDC, 435 U.S. 519, 533 (1978). Environmental objections that could have been raised at the draft stage may be waived if not raised until after completion of the final environmental impact statement. City of Angoon v. Hodel (9th Circuit, 1986) and Wisconsin Heritages, Inc. v. Harris, 490 F. Supp. 1334, 1338 (E.D. Wis. 1980). The reason for this is to ensure that substantive comments and objections are made available to the Forest Service at a time when it can meaningfully consider them and respond to them in the final environmental impact statement.
